The Science of Health!

Every Man his own Physician.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS

—AND—

Holloway's Ointment.

Disorders of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

The stomach is the great center which influences the health or disease of the system—abused or debilitated by excess—indigestion, offensive breath and physical prostration are the natural consequences. Allied to the brain, it is the source of headaches, mental depression, nervous complaints and unrefreshing sleep. The Liver becomes affected and generates bilious disorders, pains in the side, etc. The bowels sympathize by costiveness, diarrhœa and Dysentery. The principal action of these Pills is on the stomach and the liver, lungs, bowels and kidneys participate in their recuperative and regenerative operation.

Erysipelas and Salt Rheum

Are two of the most common and virulent disorders prevalent on this continent. To these the Ointment is especially antagonistic; its modus operandi is first to eradicate the venom and then complete the cure.

Bad Legs, Old Sores, and Ulcers.

Cases of many years' standing, that have pertinaciously refused to yield to any other remedy or treatment, have invariably succumbed to a few applications of this powerful unguent.

Eruptions of the Skin,

Arising from a bad state of the blood, or chronic diseases, are eradicated and a clear and transparent surface regained by the restorative action of this Ointment. It surpasses many of the cosmetics and other toilet appliances in its power to dispel rashes and other disfigurements of the face.

Female Complaints,

Whether in the young or old, married or single at the dawn of Womanhood, or the turn of life, these tonic medicines display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible in the health of the patient. Being a purely vegetable preparation. They are a safe and reliable remedy for all classes of Females in every condition of health and station of life.

Piles and Fistula.

Every form and feature of these prevalent and stuborn diseases is eradicated locally and entirely by the use of this emolient; warm fomentations should precede its application. Its healing qualities will be found to be thorough and invariable.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases: Bunions, burns, chapped hands, chilblains, fistula, gout, lumbago, mercurial eruptions, piles, rheumatism, ringworm, salt-rheum, scalds, skin diseases, swelled glands, sore legs, sore breasts, sore heads, sore throats, sores of all kinds, sprains, stiff joints, tetter, ulcers, venereal sores and wounds of all kinds.

CAUTION.—See that the words "Holloway, New York and London," appear as a watermark on every leaf of the book of directions which enfolds each box or pot. No others are genuine. A handsome reward given for information leading to the detection of counterfeiters of the medicines and venders of the deceptive articles, knowing them to be such. Sold at the manufactory, No. 80 Maiden Lane, and by druggists and medicine dealers throughout the world. A great saving by taking the large sizes. Full instructions with every box or pot. f6-1y

SEWING MACHINE!

Over 82 Competitors,

—AT THE—

Great Paris Exposition, 1867,

Being the highest honors and all the Gold Medals awarded to any Sewing Machine Company at this Exposition.

As a HOLIDAY Present, Nothing will be more appreciated THAN ONE OF these MACHINES.

America, England and France, now unite in this grand Proclamation:

Good news! good news the cable brings,
O'er all the wires it flies,
Wheeler & Wilson's sewing machine
Brings back the golden prize.

Our "Uncle Sam" first struck the note,
"John Bull" then caught the sound;
Now comes from France the echo back,
Wheeler & Wilson's crowned.

And now, no more the people doubt,
So long its stood the test—
The thing is fairly noised about
And they will buy the best.

☞ We can now supply those who wish to purchase 'STODDARD'S PATENT TUCK-MARKER,' one of the most useful attachments to the Machine yet invented; which, while sewing one tuck, makes the line of marks for the next.

Mother, Home and Heaven.

The sounds that fall on mortal ear,
As dew drops pure at even,
That sooth the breast or start the tear,
Are mother, home and heaven.

A mother—sweetest name on earth,
We lisp it on the knee,
And idolize its sacred worth
In manhood's infancy.

A home—that paradise below,
Of sunshine and of flowers,
Where hallowed joys perennial flow
By calm, sequestered bowers.

And heaven—that port of endless peace,
The heaven of the soul,
When life's corroding cares shall cease,
Like sweeping waves to roll.

O weep not, then, though cruel time
The chain of love has riven;
To every link, in yonder clime,
Reunion shall be given.

Oh, fall they not on mortal ear,
As dew drops pure at even,
To sooth the breast, or start the tear,
A mother, home and heaven!

AN AFFECTING SCENE.—At the theater in Douai, during the first performance of Offenbach's new operetto, a young actress, who appeared the first time, was hissed. She turned deadly pale, drew a poignard from her bosom and tried to stab herself. Fortunately the other actors succeeded in wresting the weapon from her hands. The performance was interupted for half an hour, and when the curtain rose again, the manager appeared and said to the highly excited audience that the young actress would re-appear, but he begged them not to insult her; she was highly talented, and that a little encouragement given to her would at once elicit the full splendor of her talents. The gallant Frenchmen burst into deafening applause when the young girl came forward again, and encored the first air which she sang with a tremulous voice. This mark of success visibly animated her courage, and she achieved a great triumph. It was afterwards ascertained that she had gone on the stage to support her mother, and the failure of her debut would have exposed them to extreme poverty. Hence her despair when the hissing burst forth.

HOW HUSBANDS ARE MANAGED IN GRASS VALLEY.—The Nevada Gazette says: When select parties are given by married ladies in Grass Valley, they give the following significant card of invitation. We omit the names and dates:

MRS. ——: On the evening of ——, your company is solicited, with that of your selected attendant, at the ——. Husbands admitted during good behavior.

MRS. ——.

If the Benedicts of Grass Valley don't reform, keep sober, and behave themselves under such strict discipline, then they are lost beyond all hopes of redemption. We had no idea that the married men of that place were in need of such coercive measures. No such steps have been necessary in this city, as yet, but as the ladies of Grass Valley have set the example, there is no telling how soon it may be followed in this city. May the good Lord preserve us males here from any such straight-laced arrangement!

"TAKE ONE FROM ONE, AND SOMETHING REMAINS."—A sub-committee of a school board, not a thousand miles from the city of Lynn, were examining a class in a primary school. One of the committee undertook to sharpen up their wits by propounding the following question:

"If I had a mince pie, and should give two-twelfths to John, two-twelfths to Isaac, two-twelfths to Harry, and should keep half the pie for myself, what would there be left?"

There was a profound study among the scholars, but finally one held up his hand as a signal that he was ready to answer.

"Well, sir, what would there be left? Speak up loud, so that all can hear," said hear," said the committee man.

"The plate!" shouted the little fellow.

The committee man turned red in the face, while the other members roared aloud. That boy was excused from answering any more questions.

BURSTING OF DOUBLE GUNS.—It is stated that ninety-five out of every hundred instances of the bursting of a double-barrelled gun can be traced to defects in the left barrel. The reason is simply that the right hand is most freqently used and reloaded—perhaps ten times to the left one being discharged once. Every time the right barrel is discharged, the gunpowder in the left is pulverized more or less by the shock, and the settling of the grains leaves a space between the charge and the wadding. Hence When the left barrel is discharged, it frequently explodes. These accidents it is asserted, can be avoided by sending the ramrod home with one or two smart blows, into the non discharged barrel, every time the other is reloaded.

REMEDY FOR POISONS.—If any poison is swallowed, drink instantly half a glass of cool water with a heaping teaspoonful each of common salt and ground mustard stirred into it. This vomits as soon as it reaches the stomach. But for fear some of the poison may remain, swallow the white of one or two eggs, or drink a cup of strong coffee—these two being antidotes for a greater number of poisons than any other dozen articles known, with the advantage of their being always at hand, if not, a pint of sweet oil, lamp oil, drippings, melted butter or lard, are good substitutes, especially if they vomit quickly.

"DEATH LOVES A SHINING MARK."—This was the reason a very red headed man gave a recruiting officer lately for not enlisting for the Mexican campaign. If death really loved that sort of a target, he said, his head would be the very first that would get popped over.

CURE FOR BURNS.—The best remedy for burns, in any stage, is a strong solution of epsom salts in water. The application at once relieves pain, and healing takes place with marvelous rapidity.

TO ARRIVE at perfection, a man must have very sincere friends or inveterate enemies; because he would be made sensible of his good or ill conduct, either by the censures of the one or the admonition of the others.

Luke Wharton's Lesson.

"I think he would sell himself very cheap," said Luke Wharton, and he spoke very warmly.

"What do you mean?" asked Rosanna, his wife.

"I mean just what I say. He would sell himself for money, and I believe he would sell his best friend, too."

"Of whom do you speak, my son?" asked his mother, looking up from her work, and raising her spectacles.

"I am speaking of Mr. Simmons," replied Luke.

"But what have you against him?" the old lady resumed.

"I've nothing against him. I was only speaking of him just as I thought."

"But do you not know that we should not always tell just what we think, my son? It is not safe."

"I believe it is always safe to tell the truth, no matter where it hits," returned Luke.

"Then it would be proper for me to go out and tell all the things I hear you and your wife say, and all that I see you do, no matter what may be their character?"

"Ah—but that would be infringing upon the sacredness of the domestic circle," said the young man.

"So it would," continued his mother; "and this shows you that there must be exceptions to your rule. The domestic circle is no more sacred than is a man's character. When you must speak, than speak the truth, and fear not the consequence; but be careful when you speak and how you speak. I know that you are very careless, at times, in your manner of speaking of others, and I am very sorry it is so. Now, answer me this: Would you want Mr. Simmons to know what you said about him?"

"I shouldn't care," replied Luke; and he spoke hesitatingly.

"Yes, you would care," continued the old lady. "You know that he is a man of much influence in this place, and that he has never wronged you in any shape. And your estimation of his character is only formed from what others have said. Now answer me truly: Would you wish that some third party should go and whisper into his ear the scandle which you have spoken of him?"

"Well—I don't know as I should; but there's no danger."

"Ah, my son—you don't know how much danger there may be. I am afraid you are as free in speaking to others as you are in speaking to us. Have you not spoken against Mr. Simmons thus?"

Luke was obliged to admit that he had; but still claimed that there was no danger, that he had a right so to speak.

"You have no right to speak against your neighbor," said Mrs. Wharton. "And more than this, it is not safe. You will find, as you advance in the world, you will have difficulties enough to contend with without making enemies needlessly. If you would prosper and move along through life with honor and respect, let one of your first cares be to see that you speak no evil of you neighbor. Speak ill of no man when duty does not absolutely call upon you to do so. You will find it by far the safest course."

Luke Wharton was a young man just married, and was clerk in a retail store. He meant to be honorable and truthful, but he had contracted that habit which so many have foolishly contracted, of speaking very foolishly and thoughtlessly of his neighbors. In the present case Mr. Simmons, a worthy and respected citizens, had made a movement for retrenchment in the expenses of the town. Luke's employer had been in the habit of furnishing certain articles to the town, and under the new system his bill was likely to fall below the amount he had received in former years. So he thought Mr. Simmons had meddled too much in town affairs, and Luke took up the strain and piped freely upon it. He knew nothing of the causes which had led Mr. Simmons' course—he only knew that gentleman's character was before the public, and he went into it. But this was not the only case. A man who can speak recklessly of one individual will speak in the same manner of others; and a man who can thus thoughtlessly speak at one time, is likely to so speak at any time.

Luke Wharton had been for some time anxious to go into some business on his own account, and the opportunity at last presented itself; or, at all events, he saw a good chance to make arrangements to that end. His old employer, who had done business enough, was willing to sell out. He told Luke if he could find a partner who would pay cash down for half the store, and its good will, the other half might remain for several years on a mortgage. So Luke cast about him, and was not long finding the man he sought. Thomas Lyon, a young man of a neighboring town, was ready to enter into such a partnership, and he considered that the thorough knowledge of the business, and the intimate acquaintance with the customers which Luke would bring to him, would offset the interest he might have to pay for the money he would be obliged to him.

It was all arranged, and Luke Wharton was happy. Thomas Lyon would raise the four thousand dollars necessary to be paid down, and he would soon be in a position where he could not only enjoy the honor and satisfaction of doing business for himself, but where he knew he could lay up money. And he was the more satisfied because another party had been talking of purchasing the store.

"I wouldn't trust him as far as I could throw a fat hog by the tail, up hill," asserted Luke Wharton. He spoke of Mr. Samuel Lovejoy, a man who lived in a distant part of the town, and who was the individual that had some talk of purchasing the store.

"What do you mean by that?" asked Mrs. Wharton.

"I mean just what I say," returned Luke. "I wouldn't trust him an inch."

"But what do you know about him, my son?"

"I know enough. He would have bought our store if he could; and he meant to do it in an under-hand way. He knew that I wanted it, and yet he tried his best to work me out."

"But how do you know this?"

"How do I know?—why I know it well enough. I know that he went to my employer, Mr. Green; offered to purchase the whole; and I know that he intimated that I might never be able to pay my half. I tell you he isn't to be trusted."

"I hope you have not spoken thus to any one else," said the old lady with much earnestness.

"Why do you hope that?"

"Because it would have been very wrong. I know Mr. Lovejoy is an eccentric man, and very set, and even bitter in his prejudices; but I never heard a lisp against his character for honesty and uprightness. Have you spoken of him out of doors?"

"I have spoken my mind of him," replied Luke, somewhat stubbornly; "and I shall speak so again."

"Stop!" said the mother. She spoke sternly, yet tenderly. "Do not say so. You are two free in the use of that tongue of yours. You are not sure that Mr. Lovejoy has spoken one word against you, and you have no right to speak so against him. If this should go to his ears it might injure you. If you are going into business, you should endeavor to make friends, and not enemies. Let me assure you, my son that you should break yourself of this bad habit. Just look at it in this one light, and you ought not to look further. It is a habit from which no good can possibly flow, but from which much evil must result. Isn't that reason enough for giving it up?"

While they were yet speaking the door-bell rang, and the servant soon handed in a letter to Luke Wharton, saying that the postman had just left it. The young man broke the seal and read as follows:

FRIEND WHARTON:—I am very sorry to be obliged to inform you that our plan for purchasing the store in partnership cannot be carried out. I had so arranged to have the money from my uncle, Samuel Lovejoy, whom you well know, but he will not allow me to take such a share as I wish. A week ago he had resigned all his previously formed plans in your favor, but he has met with something which has most suddenly and strangely changed his mind. He simply tells me that he will not trust you where my money may be at stake. He says further that (pardon me, for I must speak frankly) a man who uses his tongue as you use yours would be sure to ruin any business sooner or later.

Will you see him and talk with him? I may see you this week.

Yours, THOMAS LYON.

The hand which held the letter sank by Luke's side, and a smothered groan escaped him.

"What is it?" asked the young wife, springing to his side.

"Nothing—nothing now," he whispered; and then he seized his hat and hastened from the room.

What a blow was this! How high had he built his hopes upon the bright prospect before him—how proudly had he dwelt upon the flattering promise of the future—and how heavy was the fall. He paced to and fro in the garden, and finally he reasoned calmly on the subject. At first he had mutter deep imprecations upon the head of Samuel Lovejoy; but when he came to read the letter again he was forced to think differently.

"A week ago he had arranged plans in your favor," he read.

"I was mistaken," he said to himself. "While I thought he was trying to work me out, he was in reality trying to help me. He was ready to let Thomas have four thousand dollars to be my partner. What a fool I have been! Why couldn't I have known that he was Lyon's uncle, and my friend?

"My son!"

Luke started—turned and beheld his mother.

"What is this?" she asked.

He handed her the letter, and she read it.

"What shall I do?" he asked.

"Nothing. I know not what I can do."

"You can give up the store, and all the bright hopes you have based on it."

"Oh—I cannot do that, mother."

"Then you can do better. Go to Mr. Lovejoy, and tell him frankly that you have been at fault, and that henceforth you will do so no more."

"I cannot."

"Then you must do the other thing—give up all. You have done very wrong, and if you have not the courage to acknowledge it to him against whom the wrong has been done, then you deserve no favor that he can grant. Think of it my son; and, as you do think, remember this: If you come honorably out of this it may prove the best lesson you have ever received. God be with you, Luke, and may good sense and reason prevail."

She left him, and he remained alone in the garden for half an hour. Then he went to the stable and got a horse and rode away to see Samuel Lovejoy. He found the old gentleman at home, and after he had overcome his embarrassment, he stated the object of his visit.

"You thought that I meant to work against you, eh?" said Samuel Lovejoy.

"It makes no difference what I thought," frankly returned Luke, "I did wrong; for I had no right to question your motives; nor had I any right to speak as I did. It was spoken thoughtlessly and I am sorry for it."

"Sorry that I heard it, eh?"

"No, sir. I am glad you heard of it, for it has opened my eyes to the greatest fault of my life. But I am sorry I said it, because it was wrong"

"Well, well," said the old gentleman, "Come in. If you really feel that way, perhaps we can talk."

They went into the house and the matter was freely discussed. In the end, Luke had pledged himself that he would cast off the evil practice of a loose tongue forever; and Samuel Lovejoy had promised that he should have half of Mr. Green's store, with Thomas Lyon as a partner.

Once more was Luke Wharton happy. He went home with his resolution firmly fixed and when he told his wife and mother what had transpired they were happy with him.

Within two weeks the great store bore above its entrance the names of "Lyon & Wharton;" and business flourished, and the new firm prospered. Luke wrote a few words upon a piece of paper, and placed it where his eyes fell upon it daily. It was a Life Lesson which he wrote there—a lesson which thousands of us should learn to practice:

"Suffer no word to escape thee of thy neighbor which thou wouldst not have thy neighbor know."

YOLO COUNTY DEMOCRAT.

Democratic Central Committee.

A meeting of the Democratic Central Committee of Yolo county will be held Saturday, the 3d day of April, at the Court House in Woodland. Business of importance will be transacted. A full attendance is desired.

H. GWINN, Chairman.

JAS. A. DOUGLAS, Sec'y. mar20-2w

NEW OUTLET.—The Record suggests the idea of cutting a new channel for the American river about six miles beyond Brighton, in order that the surplus waters of that stream may be conveyed into the Cosumnes river, and thus afford protection to the city of Sacramento and the Yolo bank of the Sacramento river from damage by floods. We have no doubt the project is practicable, and if carried out, would be the means of accomplishing much good. Yolo, as well as Sacramento, has, on several occasions, suffered serious injury from the floods of the American river. Washington and its surroundings would undoubtedly be greatly benefitted by such a project. There is reason to believe that at no very distant day a city of considerable importance will mark the spot where Washington now stands, and whatever is calculated to remove obstacles in the way of her prosperity and advancement will be regarded with interest by the people of the county. We hope the Record's suggestion may be heeded.

THE ISSUE.—Recent action in Congress has plainly demonstrated that the leaders of the Radical party are fully determined to make Chinese or Mongolian suffrage an issue in the vote on the adoption or rejection of the Fifteenth Amendment. They have fully committed themselves in favor of such a policy. There can be no dodging the real issues to be presented to the people of California at the next election. Members of the State Legislature are to be elected on that issue in September next, and it remains to been seen whether the voters of California will willingly yield to the swarms of ignorant moon-eyed Celestials in our midst the power to control the ballot of a free people. We believe a fair expression of the voice of the people on this issue will defeat the ratification of the amendment by a majority of many thousands. If Democrats do their duty in the coming contest, there can be no doubt that Radicalism and its pernicious doctrines will meet with overwhelming defeat in this State.

DEATH OF EX-PRESIDENT JOHNSON.—The telegraph announces the death of Andrew Johnson. He died at his home in Tennessee, on Thursday last, of paralysis. The announcement will be received throughout the country with surprise and manifestations of regret. Having but recently closed his term of office as President, during the most embarrassing period in the history of Presidents, he had retired to his home to enjoy the calmer walks of life. The news of his death will be received with sorrow by a multitude of warm hearted friends, who believe that he was prompted in the administration of his duties by motives calculated to advance the best interests of the country.

GRAPE CULTURE.—The flattering success of the grape culture in California is attracting considerable attention in other States. An Iowa paper says that the general attention given to the cultivation of grapes in that State is owing greatly to the example set by California. Within a circuit of ten miles in the vicinity of Keokuk, Iowa, three thousand acres are planted in grapes, nearly all for wine making purposes. Some vine growers in that State are said to be making $10,000 a year in the business. On the completion of the great overland railway there is no doubt but that the grape culture in this State will receive a new impetus. The climate and adaptability of soil for that business in California are destined to render her the most renowned vineyard in the world.

THE CABINET.—The work of reconstruction in President Grant's Cabinet is probably complete, for the present, at least; however other changes are talked of in some departments, especially that of the Navy. It can scarcely be said that the Cabinet contains a single influential man. The names of that body, as they appear at last accounts, are as follows: Secretary of State, Hamilton Fish; Secretary of Treasury, George S. Boutwell; Secretary of War, Gen. Rawlings; Secretary of Navy, Adolph Borie; Secretary of Interior, J. D. Cox; Attorney General, Judge E. R. Hoar; Postmaster General, John A. J. Creswell.

STATE CAPITAL REPORTER.—This excellent Democratic journal has recently been enlarged to its original size. Democrats throughout the State, who, from its commencement, have watched its course with interest and anxiety will rejoice in the evidence of its prosperity. Able in its advocacy of sound doctrine, moral and upright in its tone, it is a power in the cause of Democracy and is deserving of the united support of the party. We are proud of its success.

CELESTIAL AMUSEMENT.—Recently in San Francisco, says an exchange, some Chinamen caught a rat, fastened it to a board with tacks driven through its feet, poured coal oil on it, set it on fire, and then danced around it like a pack of howling Indians or devils.

STRONG.—A Charleston paper says the new Constitution of South Carolina contains a plank from Massachusetts, one from Ohio, several from Vermont and a broad beam from Africa.

CHEERING PROSPECTS.—The wonderful change wrought by the late rains in the appearance of vegetation has been observed in all parts of the State. The timely blessing will no doubt secure to the farming community the largest yield of cereals ever harvested in California, and infuse new life and energy into every branch of business. The San Francisco Herald, referring to this subject, says:

From all parts of the State there comes the good tidings of improvement and prosperity. San Francisco, as the commercial center of the State, feels each impulse of material advancement, however remote the locality. With the completion of the great lines of railway connections, under construction and projective throughout the State, there will be poured into the lap of the Queen City of the Pacific, the garnered stores of a territory abounding in all the elements of material greatness. From Los Angeles we hear of water ditches for bringing into use large tracts of land for cultivating the orange, lemon, lime, figs, grapes and mulberry for silk; and from Stockton, of railway enterprises which contemplate the laying of iron bands between that thriving city and Tulare, to gather in the wealth of that, at present, inaccessible region. We also have further tidings from that locality of a great enterprise for opening canals for irrigation and navigation, to make available large tracts of land now comparatively worthless. From the entire extent of the mineral belt of the Sierras, there are new and rich developments and permanent improvements being made for an increased extraction of the precious metals, and from the agricultural portions of the State increased breadth of wheat, oats and barley sown, from which is anticipated largely increased abundance of those staples of commerce; while the cattle upon a thousand hills are multiplying in a just proportion to the demands of the State.

HON. JAMES A. JOHNSON.—Our Representative in Congress from this District has proven himself worthy of the honor conferred upon him by his constituents. The wiles of a corrupt majority in the body of which he is a member, have failed to allure him from his path of duty in advocating the true interests of the people of California. The following mention of Mr. Johnson by the Capital Reporter is a deserving tribute, every word of which we heartily endorse:

The people of the State of California are under many obligations to the Democratic voters of the Third Congressional District. It was by their votes that our present worthy representative, James A. Johnson, was returned to his seat in Congress. That gentleman, although a new hand at Congressional legislation, is making his mark. It was through him that the Republicans were placed square upon the issue of Chinese or no Chinese suffrage. His motion to suspend the rules so as to allow him to introduce a resolution declaring the Fifteenth Amendment not intended to allow the Chinese the right to vote, was a master stroke of policy. By the vote taken on that motion we know exactly where to place our opponents. Mr. Johnson is also alive to the interests of our State. We notice the introduction by him of a bill changing the boundaries of the land districts in this State, and one for the better security of travelers upon steamboats. We say with all our heart, "Well done thou good and faithful servant."

GOOD NAME.—California seems to be fortunate in retaining a good reputation abroad. This fact may be attributable in part to enthusiastic correspondents to Eastern journals, who sometimes rather overshoot the mark. That we are a favored people none can doubt. But the following high sounding description of an imaginary paradise is somewhat overdrawn, when applied to the stern realities of life in the "Golden State." We quote from a correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce:

Money everywhere seems plentiful. Ladies do their shopping with sacks of silver dollars suspended from their arm. Laborers and mechanics move about with all the complacency and independence of true sovereigns. Rough, hard-fisted men, once familiar with toil, are now seen arrayed in fine cloth, their faces radiant, and their waistbands distended with good living. A good servant girl works for no less than $30 per month, with all the modern improvements. Washing costs $3 per dozen. So the stories lately current in the East of hard times in California are not warranted by the facts.

DISSATISFIED.—The telegraph mentioned the fact a few days since that naval officers are beginning to find much fault with Borie's administration of the Navy Department. Complaints are made that Admiral Porter has too much influence, in fact that he is Secretary of the Navy in all but form. This dissatisfaction is said to be universal, from Admiral Farragut down. It is not improbable that Borie will soon retire from the service. This information comes authenticated and it is not at all improbable that Grant will have to try his hand again in making another appointment for Secretary of the Navy.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT.—From the Reporter we learn that on Wednesday, while J. W. Coffroth was in the act of decending the iron stairway leading to his office on J street, he tripped and fell, sustaining a fracture of the middle finger of the right hand, the severance of the temporal artery and sundry contusions. It is anticipated that he will soon be able to attend to business. In view of his great weight, it is remarkable that he should have escaped with such slight injury.

THE people of Southern Indiana two years ago became afflicted by the petroleum fever, and bored each other and a large proportion of their soil in searches for oil. They did not strike oil, but they struck a number of salt wells, which are now capable of supplying the whole State with all the salt demanded. It is an excellent article of salt, too. Many of these flowing wells have each a capacity for the manufacture of two hundred barrels of good salt every twelve hours.

RIOTOUS CONDUCT.—Sunday fights on the wharves at San Francisco are getting to be quite common. Another set-to was indulged in last Sunday, on Vallejo street wharf. Several participants were badly hurt. It is about time such amusements were stopped.

Summons.

IN the District Court of the Sixth Judicial District, of the State of California, in and for the county of Yolo. The People of the State of California to HENRY M. JONES greeting:

You are hereby summoned to answer the complaint of JANE C. JONES, in said Court filed against you, within ten days, (exclusive of the day of service,) after the service on you of this summons, if served within this county; if served out of this county, but within this Judicial District, within twenty days; but if served on you without said District, then in forty days from such service, exclusive of the day of service, in an action commenced on the 18th day of March, 1869, in said Court.

Said action is brought to obtain a decree of said Court dissolving the bonds of matrimony heretofore, and now, existing between Plaintiff and Defendant. And you are hereby notified, that if you fail to answer the complaint as directed, plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief therein prayed for.

Given under my hand and seal of the District court of the 6th Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the county of Yolo, this 18th day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine. E. BYNUM, Clerk.

Notice to Contractors.

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received by the Board of Supervisors of Yolo county on and after the 3d day of March, until the first Monday in April next, at 2 o'clock P. M., for grading a portion of the Woodland and Davisville road, commencing at a point where said road intersects the Buckeye road, and running north 180 rods along the east side of John Mull's farm. Said grade is to be raised 1½ feet in the center and sloping to surface at eight feet from center line of road, making grade 16 feet at the base—with a culvert in the lowest portion of the ground; said culvert to be 4 feet wide and one foot deep, constructed of 3-inch Oregon pine and covered with earth 8 inches deep and so placed that the top of said covering shall correspond with top of grade. Also proposals to make a similar grade from said point where grade commences running east to where the high land is reached. Bids to be accompanied by a bond equal to contract price.

GEO. H. SWINGLE,
mar6-4w President.

Notice to Contractors.

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received by the Board of Supervisors until Monday, April 5th, at 3 o'clock P. M., for grading road on and in front of H. D. Barton's ranch, six miles below the town of Washington, containing 10,500 cubic yards. Plans and specifications of the work can be seen in the County Clerk's office. No bid will be entertained without an accompanying bond equal to said bid. Said work to be completed within sixty days from date of contract. G. H. SWINGLE, mar6-5w President.

TOWN AND COUNTY MATTERS.

A SENSATION.—The appearance of a veritable velocipede, under full sail on our streets this week, has created quite a sensation. Hitherto these strange vehicles have been principally used in large cities, but recently it seems an effort is being made to introduce them in the country. At any rate Woodland has enjoyed the sensation, and the thing draws. The managers, Messrs. Ogburn & Simmons, have received the plaudits of admiring crowds, which have daily assembled to witness their graceful gyrations on the velocipede. The right of way up and down the side-walks has been conceded to the enterprising benefactors, who seem not to weary in gratifying an admiring public with a free exhibition of the novelty. It has not yet been demonstrated that horse flesh will be superceded by the new comer, but it moves without consuming oats, and glides gayly along under the saddle while the rider gracefully works his passage, provided he can maintain his equilibrium. Viva la velocipede!

GOOD TEMPLARS' BALL—ORPHANS' HOME.—We understand that the Good Templars of Woodland will give a grand ball at their Hall on the evening of April 30th—proceeds to go to the Orphans' Home fund, a very worthy object indeed. The good people of Yolo county will no doubt gladly second the efforts of the Good Templars by contributing something towards erecting and maintaining an Orphans' Home. The building is already in course of erection and will be completed by the first of September next.

ALFALFA.—Experiments in the cultivation of alfalfa or Chile clover have proven most successful in this county. When properly cared for, it grows with astonishing vigor, producing two crops a year, each of which will yield about two tons of hay per acre. At the present time the growth is well advanced. On the ranch of E. Giddings, near town, a forty acre field is covered with this excellent feed, which has already attained the height of from twelve to eighteen inches.

BAND OF HOPE.—This institution, which meets at Templar Hall to-morrow at 3 P. M., is the most popular of any in town. Its meetings are largely attended by visitors, while the Band numbers about 150. The exercises consist of essays, declamations, remarks by visitors, etc. The meetings are rendered doubly entertaining by delicious music on one of Mason & Hamlin's cabinet organs, recently purchased by the Good Templars.

ON A VISIT.—J. Levison, our former townsman, has been making a tour through Yolo county this week on business for Wm. Price & Co., of Sacramento, of which firm he is a member. Their business house is located at No. 44 K street, where their Yolo friends may be assured of meeting a welcome.

TRAVELING AGENT.—H. Franklin, traveling agent for the house of P. Franklin, importer and dealer in tobacco, cigars, etc., No. 102 J street, Sacramento, called on us yesterday. We are glad to learn that his visit to the country has been agreeable and successful in a business point of view.

NEW CLOTHING STORE.—A splendid stock of gentlemen's furnishing goods has just been opened by Magee & Read in their new store in the Planters' House. They are having a rush of customers and are deserving of success. Go and see the Grecian bend on exhibition at their place of business.

PLANTERS' HOUSE.—The new hotel erected by A. S. House of this place has been christened the Planters' House. The hotel will be thrown open to guests at noon to-morrow. Dinner will be served at a quarter past 12 o'clock.

BARBER SHOP.—A new barber shop has been fitted up in Morin's block. The proprietors, Maddox & Scott, have arranged everything connected with the establishment in a neat and tasty manner and are prepared to receive the custom of ladies and gentlemen.

SEWING MACHINE.—The "Weed" Sewing Machine seems to be gaining in popularity. Quite a number have been disposed of in this community, all of which have given entire satisfaction.

TIN SHOP.—C. D. Morin has made quite an improvement in his shop on Main street. The building has been enlarged and otherwise improved, and presents a neat and commodious appearance. Charley is deserving of success.

WOOL.—Fleishman & Kaufman announce that they will pay the highest price for wool, delivered at their store in Woodland. They keep the best quality of wool sacks on hand for sale.

BALL.—A ball for the benefit of the District School at Cottonwood, will be given at that place on Friday evening next. The ball ought to be well patronized, as the object is a worthy one.

WOOL COMMISSION.—J. O. Maxwell offers to pay the highest price for wool delivered at any station on the California Pacific Railroad, or at any shipping point on the Sacramento river.

BOOT-MAKER.—We noticed some fashionable boots of superior workmanship at the shop of Wm. Keller, who has recently located in the Masonic building.

A BARGAIN.—P. Johnson offers for sale a valuable team and several wagons, cheap for cash or good security. See "ad."

MULES AND HORSES.—D. N. Hershey advertises a number of mules and horses for sale on reasonable terms.

AT HALF-MAST.—The flag at the Court House was raised yesterday at half-mast, out of respect to the memory of Andrew Johnson.

A QUEER TALE.—A party of three men from California, bound for White Pine, camped the other night at the foot of the grade. In the course of the day the animal packed with the "kitchen" bolted and lost a part of his load, which included the bread-pan, and the men were at their wits' end to contrive the mixing of a batch of bread. Just then a large dog came rattling down the grade right for their camp, and as he dashed through, one of the men, who was cutting bacon with a heavy knife, slashed at the frightened animal and cut off its tail. The dog had been "kettled" in this city, and as the man picked up the tail they found attached to it an old tin pan, which they washed and speedily put to use. They regarded the finding of the bread-pan as a special providence, and continued their journey to White Pine with light hearts.—[Reese River Reveille.

HENRY HAIGHT, uncle of our present Governor, died in San Francisco last Wednesday evening. The deceased, at the time of his death, was a Notary Public and in early times was a resident partner of the banking house of Page, Bacon & Co. He was a native of New York, and came to this country from St. Louis, Mo.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

[From the new "Dominion."]

At this season, when coughs and colds are so prevalent, an effectual remedy, and one easily obtained, is Perry Davis Vegetable "Pain Killer." It is no new nostrum, vended by unknown agents, but has stood the test of over twenty years, and those who use the article, internally or externally, will connect with it grateful recollections of its worthy inventor.—[Hastings' Chronicle, C. W.

PAIN KILLER.—The testimonials borne to the efficacy of this valuable medicine are sufficient to warrant its introduction in every house. Our own opinion is that no family should be without a bottle of it for a single hour. In flesh wounds, aches, pains, sores, etc., it is the most effectual remedy we know of. A bottle will last for a very long time, and its low price places it within the reach of all.—[St. John News.

We are glad to learn that the "Pain Killer" is having so large a sale in our city. We have every reason to believe it to be an almost never failing cure for pain, and a medicine that no family should be without.—[Montreal Pilot.

NOT AN EXCITANT.—Persons unacquainted with therapeutics are apt to suppose that medicines containing a diffusive stimulant must necessarily excite the brain. This is a great mistake. The Plantation Bitters, for example, contain St. Croix Rum (the purest and most nourishing of all form of alcohol, by the way), yet so completely is the exciting principle of the spirit controlled by the rare vegetable substances with which it is impregnated, that the Bitters calm and tranquilize the brain and the nerves instead of spurring them into preternatural activity. Thus, the spirituous element becomes a harmless agent for the rapid diffusion through the system of the most valuable specifics for indigestion, general and local debility, intermittent fever, constipation, liver complaint, and all disorders of the secretive organs.

ELECTRO SILICON.—This curious and valuable substance is confidently claimed to be the BEST ARTICLE ever discovered for cleaning and polishing Gold, Silver and Plated Ware, and all smooth metallic surfaces, of whatever description, including kitchen utensils of tin, copper, brass, steel, etc.

TO HEADS OF FAMILIES.—Are your little ones subject to croup? If so, don't fail to use NEWELL'S PULMONARY SYRUP. A few doses given in time MAY SAVE THE LIFE OF A DARLING CHILD. Do not fail to have it on hand, if you would be safe and free from anxiety.

"IN TIME OF PEACE PREPARE FOR WAR."—So get a bottle of DR. E. COOPER'S UNIVERSAL MAGNETIC BALM, an unequalled preparation for Dysentery, Diarrhœa and Cramp. The instantaneous relief for Burns, Bruises and Sprains.

This valuable preparation, containing in a highly concentrated form all the properties of Jamaica Ginger, has become one of the most popular domestic remedies for all diseases of the stomach and digestive organs.

As a tonic, it will be found invaluable to all persons recovering from debility, whether produced by fever, or otherwise; for while it imparts to the system all the glow and vigor that can be produced by wine or brandy, it is entirely free from the reactionary effects that follow the use of spirits of any kind.

It is also an excellent remedy for females who suffer from difficult menstruation, giving almost immediate relief to the spasms that so frequently accompany that period.

It gives immediate relief to Nausea, caused by riding in a railroad car, or by sea-sickness, or other causes.

It is also valuable as an external application for Gout, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, etc.

The Reasons for Insuring

—IN THE—

NEW ENGLAND MUTUAL

Life Insurance Company,

OF BOSTON.

By the Acts of Massachusetts, incorporated into the General Statutes of 1860 and 1864, a Policy of Life Insurance for the benefit of a Married Woman, or any person or persons specified, goes to them independently of the debts and liabilities of the party who effects the policy.

An Act to Regulate the Forfeiture of Policies of Life Insurance.

Be it Enacted, etc., as follows:

SECTION 1.—No Policy of Insurance on Life, hereafter issued by any Company chartered by the authority of this Commonwealth, shall be forfeited or become void by the non-payment of premium thereon, any further than regards the right of the party insured therein to have it continued in force beyond a certain period, to be determined as follows, to-wit: The net value of the policy, when the premium becomes due and is not paid, shall be ascertained, according to the "combined experience" or "actuaries'" rate of mortality, with interest at four per cent. per annum. After deducting from such net value any indebtedness to the company or notes held by the company against the insured, which notes if given for premium shall then be canceled, four-fifths of what remains shall be considered as a net single premium of temporary insurance, and the term for which it will insure shall be determined according to the age of the party at the time of the lapse of the premium, and the assumptions of mortality and interest aforesaid.

SECTION 2.—If the death of the party occur within the term of temporary insurance covered by the value of the policy, as determined in the previous section, and if no condition of the insurance, other than the payment of premium shall have been violated by the insured, the company shall be bound to pay the amount of the policy the same as if there had been no lapse of premium, anything in the policy to the contrary notwithstanding: provided, however, that notice of the claim and proof of the death shall be submitted to the company within ninety days after decease; and provided, also, that the company shall have the right to deduct from the amount insured in the policy the amount at six per cent. per annum of the premiums that had been forborne at the time of the death.

YOLO COUNTY DEMOCRAT.

The Little People.

They drive home the cows from the pasture,
Up through the long shady lane,
Where the quail whistles loud in the wheat fields
That are yellow with ripening grain.
They find in the thick waving grasses
Where the scarlet-lipped strawberry grows;
They gather the earliest snow-drops
And the first crimson buds of the rose.

They toss the new hay in the meadow;
They gather the elder-bloom white;
They find where the dusky grapes purple
In the soft-tinted October light.
They know where the apples hang ripest,
When the sun most brilliantly shines,
They know where the fruit hangs the thickest
On the long thorny blackberry vines.

They gather the delicate sea-weeds,
And build tiny castles of sand;
They pick up beautiful sea-shells—
Fairy barks that have drifted to land.
They wave from the tall rocking-tree tops,
Where the oriole's hammock-nest swings,
And at night-time are folded in slumber
By a song that a fond mother sings.

Those who toil bravely are strongest;
The humble and poor become great;
And from those brown-handed children
Shall grow mighty rulers of state.
The pen of the author and statesman—
The noble and wise of the land—
The sword, and the chisel, and palette
Shall be held in the little brown hand.

The late Baron Rothschild, dining once at his club in Paris, heard some one say: "Horrible bore—lent X. ten thousand francs—have not even got an acknowledgment; and he's gone to Constantinople." "Write to him," said the Baron. "Have done so, and it don't answer—he does not answer." "Then, mon cher, write to him thus: Dear M. X., when the Turks and Turkesses leave you a little leisure, send me the twenty thousand francs I lent you." "But he only owes me ten thousand." "Precisely! he will write and say so, and then there's your acknowledgment."

A new hand in a barber's shop was recently put on a customer who wanted to be shaved. The new hand was very rough, and put his victim through in a vigorous manner. After he had finished, the gentleman who had been shaved inquired of the new barber if he had ever shaved any one beside himself. The barber replied that he had.

"Will you permit me to inquire if the man lived?"

A gentleman had a cask of American wine from which his servant had stolen a large quantity. When the master perceived the deficiency, he diligently inspected the top of the cask, but could find no traces of an opening. "Look, if there be not a hole in the bottom," said a bystander. "Blockhead," he replied, "do you not see that the deficiency is at the top, and not at the bottom?"

An honest Hibernian whose bank pocket, to use his own phrase, had stopped payment, was forced to the sad necessity of perambulating the streets two nights together, for the want of a few pence to pay his lodgings, when, accidentally hearing a person talking of a laying-in-hospital, he cried, "That's the place for me, for I have been laying out these two nights past."

There is a person employed on a certain railway, who brags of having a watch that keeps correct time. He was heard to remark a few mornings since, upon pulling out his watch, "If the sun ain't over the hill in a minute and a half, he will be late."

A man lately made application for insurance on a building situated in a village where there were no fire engines. He was asked, "What are the facilities in your village for extinguishing fire?" "Well, it rains, sometimes," he replied, with great simplicity.

"Wife, I thought you said you were going to have a goose for dinner?" "So I did, and I've kept my word." "Where is it?" "Why my dear, ain't you hear?" Smith couldn't see the point of that joke.

A man may have mastered the ancient languages so that he can unlock the literary treasures of buried nations, and yet his education is sadly imperfect unless he can say No!

An advertising tallow chandler modestly announces that, without any disparagement to the sun, he may confidently assert that his octagonal spermaceti are the best lights ever invented.

The following mortuary advertisement is cut from an English paper:

"Beneath this stone, in hopes of Zion,
Doth lay the landlord of the Lion;
His son keeps on the business still,
Resigned unto the heavenly will."

"I loved my wife," said a wag, "at first, as much as ever anybody did love a wife. For the first two months, I actually wanted to eat her up, and ever since then I've been sorry I didn't."

A Troy, N. Y., clergyman says: "A washer-woman is an evidence of civilization, and the flag that flutters every Monday upon the clothes line, is a symbol of progress and liberty."

Charles Dickens says he can always judge of the character of a hotel or restaurant by an inspection of the castor. The mustard pot and oil cruet are infallible tests.

Down in Maine a man is sentenced to death for setting fire to his house, while another, who tried to kill his wife, goes to prison for ten years.

The Columbus (Ohio) Journal pointedly remarks that "every cord of wood given to the poor here will be so much fuel saved from use in the other world."

Who ever saw the "pale of society" running over with the "milk of human kindness?" If so, where was the "cream of the joke?"

An amorous swain declares that he is so fond of his sweetheart that he has rubbed the skin from his nose by kissing her shadow on the wall. A hopeless case, that.

When popping the question, look your girl right in the eyes and never mind her nose. Its the only way to see what she really means.

A Wisconsin genius climbed on the roof of a shanty at Green Bay lately, and imitated an owl so successfully that a hunter shot him dead.

Some slandering bachelor says it is much joy when you first get married, but it is more jawy after a year or so.

A cynical husband says that the only good run of luck he ever had was when his wife ran away from him.

Many people who drop a tear at the sight of distress, would do much better to drop a six pence.

Henry Ward Beecher thinks the "coming man" will ride a velocipede.

A fellow in jail wishes he had the small-pox so that he could break out.

The Etheoline removes all kinds of Grease Spots, etc., from silk, ribbons and cloth; it also cleans gloves in a few moments without effecting the color; and for cleaning wool or silk is invaluable. It is not offensive, like other preparations of the kind; on the contrary, it is an elegant perfume.

G. J. OVERSHINER,

CARRIAGE AND WAGON MANUFACTURER,

Main street, (opposite Gray & Freeman's,)

WOODLAND.

I would call the attention of the public to this well-known shop, where I manufacture to order and keep constantly on hand for sale

Carriages,
Buggies,
Sulkies,
CONCORD-STYLE THOROUGHBRACE

—AND—

LUMBER WAGONS,

—FROM THE—

BEST EASTERN MATERIAL,

Selected by myself!

All work manufactured at my shop is under my own immediate supervision, and up to the requirements of the times, of the latest style, and the most

APPROVED PATTERNS AND FINISH!

I employ no "foreman," for 30 years' experience in the trade—10 years in the Eastern States, 20 years on the Pacific coast, (including 9 years superintendence of the "Pioneer Carriage Shop," Sacramento,) justifies me in assuming that position. Delegating to none the supervision of my work, I am enabled to Guarantee Satisfaction!

My LARGE and SPACIOUS SHOPS enable me to store large quantities of material, and my

SEASONING FACILITIES,

(the only perfect seasoning apparatus on the coast) enable me to defy competition in quality of seasoned work. For verification of above, one has only to examine my facilities in this line, and compare them with those in other shops. I do not pursue the course adopted by many; on the contrary, I season stock before working, and do not put up green stock in wheels, leaving them to season afterwards. I have and keep on hand a large stock of

OAK and HICKORY SPOKES,

of all sizes and the finest material the market affords. Also a large variety of Elm and Locust Hubs.

Having given the Oak Hub a fair trial, I have become convinced that they are unfit for first-class work. Parties who may favor me with their patronage may be assured that

No green oak hubs will be found in my work!

In this connection I would call particular attention to my NEW STYLE LOCUST HUB, turned from my pattern, and imported expressly for this trade and Found only at my Shop!

Also made to order all kinds of

FARMING IMPLEMENTS!

Plows,
Harrows, &c

I have now on hand Harrows of all sizes, with STEEL TEETH, superior to the imported article. In short, I am prepared to fill all orders, from a Wheelbarrow to a Hornet's Nest.

The PAINTING and TRIMMING DEPARTMENT is equal to the best, and particular attention is paid to repairing and trimming old work.

BLACKSMITHING,

In all its branches, is connected with the wood-work, and both are under my supervision.

I have on hand, for sale,

Plow-beams and Handles,
Neckyokes,
Singletrees,
Stretchers,
Clevises,
Fifth-chains,
Lap-Rings,
Harrow-Teeth,
Etc., Etc.

All kinds of Plow and Wagon repairing done with neatness and dispatch. Determined to adhere to my long-established rule of manufacturing only the Best Work from the Best Stock, and having served my time at the two branches of carriage-work, (wood and iron) enables me to guarantee satisfaction in all cases, and to know, as foreman of my own shop, when work is WELL DONE.

To those who have heretofore dealt at other shops, and consequently are unacquainted with my work, I would say GIVE ME A CALL and examine my stock and work. Believing that the surest test of the value of my work can be had in the verdict of those who use it, I respectfully refer the public to

The following named Gentlemen who have and now are using Wagons and Buggies of my manufacture: E. Giddings, J. Laugenour, J. Aldrich, Mr. High, H. Rhoades, Mr. Taylor, J. Jones, L. B. Ruggles, Gray & Freeman, J. Garoutte, Fleishman & Kaufman, Ed. Moses, S. & M. Hyman, George Scott, Mr. Ludden, Mr. Olds, Mr. Lusk, Mr. Hurlbut, R. Fritz, J. Lane, Wm. Davidson, and a host of others whose names can be given if required

☞ Thankful for past patronage, I respectfully solicit a continuance of the favor.

HELMBOLD'S BUCHU.

The only Known Remedy

—FOR—

Diabetes, Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder, Inflamation of the Kidneys, Catarrh of the Bladder, &c., &c., &c.

For these diseases, it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms. Are you troubled with that disgusting pain in the small of the back and through the hips? A teaspoonful a day of Helmbold's Buchu will relieve you.

Physicians and Others

PLEASE NOTICE.

I make no secret of ingredients. Helmbold's Extract Buchu is composed of Buchu, Cubebs and Juniper Berries, selected with care, prepared in vacuo and according to the rules of Pharmacy and Chemistry.

These ingredients are known as the most valuable Diuretics afforded. A Diuretic is that which acts upon the Kidneys. Helmbold's Extract Buchu acts gently. It is pleasant in taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and immediate in its action. For the satisfaction of all, see Medical Properties contained in Dispensatory of the United States, of which the following is a correct copy:

"Buchu. Its odor is strong, diffusive and somewhat aromatic, its taste bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, chronic catarrh of the Bladder, morbid irritation of the Bladder and Uretha, diseases of the Prostrate, and Retention or Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, chronic Rheumatism, cutaneous affections and Dropsy."

For further information see Professor Dewees' valuable works on the Practice of Physic. See remarks made by the celebrated Dr. Physic, of Philadelphia. See any and all standard works on Medicine.

Dr. Keyser is a physician of over thirty years experience, and a graduate of the Jefferson Medical college and of the University of Medicine and Surgery of Philadelphia:

Mr. H. T. Helmbold—Dear Sir: In regard to the question asked me as to my opinion about Buchu, I would say that I have used and sold the article in various forms for the past thirty years. I do not think there is any form or preparation of it I have not used or known to be used, in the various diseases where such medicate agent would be indicated. You are aware, as well as myself, that it has been extensively employed in the various diseases of the bladder and kidneys; and the reputation it has acquired, in my judgment, is warranted by the facts. I have seen and used, as before stated, every form of Buchu—the powdered leaves, the simple decoction, tincture fluid extracts; and I am not cognizant of any preparation of that plant at all equal to yours. Eighteen years' experience ought, I think, to give me the right to judge of its merits, and without prejudice or partiality I give yours precedence over all others. I value your Buchu for its effects on patients. I have cured with it, and seen cured with it, more diseases of the bladder and kidneys than I have ever seen cured with any other Buchu, or any other proprietory compound of whatever name. Respectfully yours, etc.,

GEO. H. KEYSER, M. D., 140 Wood st.
Pittsburg, Pa., August 11, 1865.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU.

FROM THE LARGEST MANUFACTURING CHEMIST

IN THE WORLD.

I am acquainted with H. T. Helmbold; he occupies the drug store opposite my residence, and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise. Wm. Weightman, (firm of Powers & Weightman), Manufacturing chemists, Ninth and Brown streets, Phila.

The proprietor has been induced to make this statement from the fact that his remedies, although advertised, are genuine preparations, and knowing that the intelligent refrain from using anything pertaining to Quackery, or the Patent Medicine order—most of which are prepared by self-styled doctors, who are too ignorant to read a physicians' simplest prescription, much less competent to prepare Pharmaceutical preparations. These parties resort to various means of effecting sales, such as copying parts of advertisements of popular remedies and finishing with certificates. The science of medicine stands simple, pure and majestic, having fact for its basis, induction for its pillar, truth alone for its capital.

A Word of Caution.

Health is most important; and the afflicted should not use an advertised medicine, or any remedy, unless its contents or ingredients are known to others besides the manufacturer, or until they are satisfied of the qualifications of the party so offering.
